

USC US-China Institute

南加州大学美中学院

china.usc.edu

APRIL 13, 2019

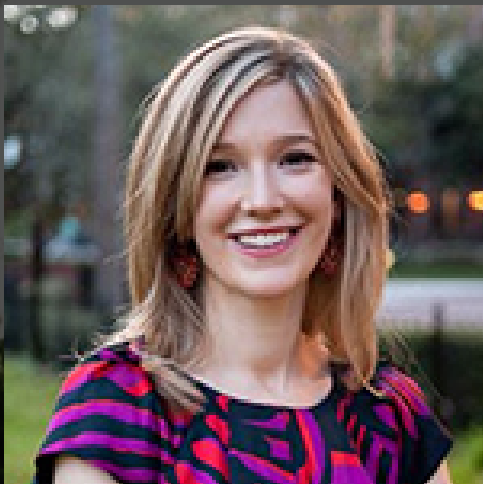

9 AM - 3:30 PM • USC

The USC U.S.-China Institute is offering a complimentary one-day workshop at USC for educators. There is no cost to participate. All materials, refreshments, parking, and lunch will be provided.

The workshop will coincide with the LA Times Festival of Book at USC.

REGISTRATION DEADLINE: APRIL 10

SIGN UP AT CHINA.USC.EDU/SEMINARS

BUDDHISM'S EAST ASIAN EVOLUTION

Professor Lori Meeks, chair of the USC Department of Religion and an award-winning scholar, will examine the rise and spread of Buddhism, with particular attention to history in Japan.

MEETING CHINA'S ENVIRONMENTAL CHALLENGES

Leading China environmental expert Barbara Finamore will explain how transforming China's economy to clean energy, services, and innovation is essential to both China's own prosperity and the future of the planet.